Management Education for a Changing World

AGENDA

Wednesday, 25 September

10:00  Conference registration open

Pre-conference workshops

13:00 – 14:00  See the Future – workshop with CarringtonCrisp

Discover the latest trends in business education, what they mean for your business school and how you can build a stronger offer for the future. CarringtonCrisp, the research-led higher education consulting firm, will draw out key findings from their latest market studies to build a compelling picture of tomorrow’s business education. Join Andrew Crisp, co-founder, on a journey that takes in Masters, MBAs, executive education, technology, internationalization, sustainability and much more.

14:00 – 15:00  Integrating Global News and Events into the Classroom: Inspiring Students to Engage in Critical Thinking – workshop with Peregrine Academic Services

The workshop provided by higher education thought-partner Peregrine Academic Services will explore how schools can bridge the gap between theory and practice and integrate current global business events in the classroom. Participants will gain insights into how successful ‘learning environments’ are developed that provide students with employment ready skills and a passion for lifelong learning through Peregrine dynamic B-School Connection Resource Center.

15:00 – 16:00  Accessing the Best and Brightest from Around the World to Increase Diversity and Grow Your Programs – workshop with GMAC

The Graduate Management Admission Council (GMAC) is a global, nonprofit association of more than 220 leading business schools. This workshop will allow you to explore the range of resources that GMAC provides to help business schools connect with the best and brightest prospective students from around the world and build diverse classes for your MBA programs and business masters. Participants will also be encouraged to share their experience on opportunities and challenges in the areas of student recruitment and admission.

16:00 – 17:00  The impact of peer-to-peer on student recruitment – workshop with Unibuddy
Research shows that speaking to other students has the biggest influence on a prospects’ university choice. We will be looking into how peer-to-peer engagement allows you to harness the authentic voice of your ambassadors - and the positive impact this has on conversion. We will also be discussing what conversation topics are important for your students, with data from over 1,000,000 messages exchanged through our platform.
