

Karin Sixl-Daniell

Originally from Austria, and having lived in Singapore and the UK for ten years, Karin has been facilitating MBA classes since 1997 and MBA classes online and blended since 2003. Karin is now a professor at MCI, focusing on implementing blended learning programs.

Before focusing on e-learning, she was Assistant Professor and Deputy Head at the Institute of International Management, University of Graz, Austria and established her own research and advisory businesses in Singapore and Hong Kong. She was also a member of the Advisory Panel to the INSEAD Financial Education for Women initiative FinEdX and co-authored the book "Wealth Wisdom For Everyone" which was accompanied by a 26 episode TV series on Channel NewsAsia in 2006. Karin was also the Program Co-Director for the Entrepreneurship and Family Business Program by U21Global (now GlobalNxt University, a consortium of a plethora of leading universities worldwide focusing on e-learning) and the Indian Institute of Management (IIM) in Bangalore.

She was appointed Associate Professor in 2008 and holds a Doctorate in Social and Economic Sciences (Business Administration) and two Masters degrees (one in economics and one in health care management). Karin's interests include in particular organizational behavior, international human resource management, international business, cross-cultural management with a focus on intercultural competencies, and strategic management.