

Zoltan Buzady

Dr. Zoltan Buzady, Associate Professor of Leadership and Faculty Director of MBA Programs at Corvinus University & CEU, Budapest, Hungary.

Guided by the motto "Learning, Leading, Leapfrogging", Zoltan has a quarter-century of experimentation and innovation at the interface of Leadership Development, Cross-cultural Management and Strategy: As an CEEMAN-IMTA alumnus has authored several innovative teaching materials and academic articles and won twice 1st prize award on the CEEMAN case writing global competition.

Founder-Director of "Leadership & Flow" Global Research Program: serving global leadership development with new cloud-based teaching technology along the principles of Flow-promoting Leadership, as developed by world-famous Prof. Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi. His current research focuses on Leadership and Flow-theory, combining it with Self-Development and Change Management ideas, aiming to further Leadership Development that is applicable in different cultural and situational contexts. These new insight can be ideally used for Talent Management and Staffing Strategies based on modern big-data and predictive HR analysis.

Co-author of 'Missing Link Discovered - Planting Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi's Flow Theory into Management and Leadership Practice by using FLIGBY, the Official Flow-Leadership Game' with special essay contribution by Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi, the inventor of Flow and founder of positive psychology (2016).

Official MoC Affiliate Network Faculty Member of Prof. Michael Porter's Institute for Strategy and Competitiveness at HBS (2016).

Google has chosen him into the elite circle of official Google+Create members and now globally promote his innovative and thought-leading Google+ collections on Leadership, Flow-theory, Design Thinking, Case Method Teaching and on Effective Management Education. Please liaise with Zoltan on leadership development-related teaching/training requests and opportunities.