

Ed Evans

Ed's background is in up-scaling tech companies - building commercial teams and extending market reach so they can achieve their vision. As Head of the Partnerships team at Unibuddy, Ed supports universities with their recruitment challenges - and having had personal experience of the difficulties of choosing where to study, is passionate about helping students find where they belong.