

Dinara Seijaparova

Mrs. Dinara Seijaparova is a Member of the Global Business and Sustainable Development Commission established at the Davos World Economic Forum in 2016. This Business Commission consists of 35 international leaders from business, government, financial institutions, and civil society, all working to advance the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The Commission identified the SDGs as a $30 trillion USD opportunity. Learn more at www.businesscommission.org.

Mrs. Seijaparova obtained her MBA from Stanford Graduate School of Business in Palo Alto, USA, in 2004. She earned her Bachelor's degree in Finance with Honors from the American University in Washington, DC. She also attended the Strategic Management Course at Columbia University in New York, USA, and completed a three-year undergraduate program in Economics at Dokuz Eylul University in Izmir, Turkey.

She began her professional career at The World Bank Group in Washington, DC, USA, as a Junior Professional Associate at the Operations Evaluations Department, where she worked on portfolios related to Russia, Kazakhstan, Jordan, Bulgaria, as well as various Latin American and African countries. She conducted evaluations in health, energy, finance, and other sectors.

In 2005, she was invited to Kazakhstan to serve as the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) and Board Member of JSC National Company "KazMunaiTeniz," focusing on financing projects such as Kashagan and other oil and gas ventures. From 2013 to 2018, she worked as CFO/Board Member of NMH "Baiterek," where she also supervised IT and Strategy departments. Starting in April 2018, she held the position of CFO and Board Member at Almaty International Airport, where she collaborated with UNDP to secure financing for several projects.

She considers professionalism, integrity, and teamwork as her guiding principles at work.