

Serhat Burmaoglu

Serhat Burmaoglu, affiliated with Kyrgyz-Turkish Manas University, is a renowned academic specializing in technology foresight, technology intelligence, scientometrics, and assessment to shape innovation policies. He has a profound interest in the nexus of sustainability, circular economy, and digitalization, and employs advanced statistical, data mining, and machine learning techniques in his research. He has spearheaded significant projects either national or international levels. His prolific publication record features articles in esteemed journals such as the Technological Forecasting and Social Change, Scientometrics, Futures, and Technology in Society. In essence, Burmaoglu's contributions to technology and innovation policy research are both vast and impactful. His detailed CV can be reached here: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-5537-6887>.