

Carole Parkes

Carole Parkes is co-Director of Social Responsibility and Sustainability at Aston Business School. Since 2007, Carole has been key driver for Aston's early and active involvement with the United Nations Principles of Responsible Management Education - (UNPRME) that aim to be a driver for change the education of future business leaders in creating an inclusive and sustainable global economy. This has included leading curriculum change across the Business School & University. She has developed and leads an MSc in Social Responsibility & Sustainability.

