

Patricia M. Flynn

Professor Patricia M. Flynn, PhD, is Trustee Professor of Economics and Management at Bentley University, where she served as Dean of the McCallum Graduate School of Business from 1992 to 2002.

Pat's research and teaching focus on technology-based economic development, corporate governance and women in business. Pat's research has been funded by organizations including the National Science Foundation, the U.S. Department of Labor, the U.S. Department of Education, and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation. Her publications include Technology Life Cycles and Human Resources, Turbulence in the American Workplace, and the annual Census of Women Directors and Executive Officers in MA. She is currently a director of Columbia Funds, and serves on numerous not-for-profit boards. Pat has a bachelor's degree in Economics from Emmanuel College, and master's and PhD degrees in Economics from Boston University.

